APPEAL FEARS FOR 260 HOMES IN WITNEY

WEST Oxfordshire District Council's refusal of plans to build 260 homes in Witney's Burford Road may not be the end of the issue, campaigners fear.

Last Tuesday the council's Lowlands Area Planning sub-committee voted to turn down proposals to build the houses, after a previous application for 270 homes on the same site was rejected last year.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

But developers Gladman have already launched an appeal into the decision to reject the first proposal, and campaigners are anticipating a long fight ahead.

A statement on the Windrush Valley Protection Group's Facebook page said: "A unanimous NO decision again. Not that this will stop them. The appeal for the first application has a date of January set, and it will be an eight-day public enquiry."

Police charge five over Oxford child sex abuse

FIVE people were charged last night following child sexual exploitation raids in Oxford on Tuesday.

More than 100 officers executed warrants at eight properties in the Cowley and Littlemore area at 6am, in which nine people were arrested.

Assad Hussain, 34, of no fixed abode, was charged with six counts of indecent assault and six counts of rape.

Naim Khan, 36, of Herschel Crescent in Oxford, was charged with a number of offences including rape, indecent assault and one count of making an indecent film of a child.

Qasim Hussain, 29, of Hurst Street in Oxford, was charged with one count of rape.

Allah Ditta Yousaf, 45, of Bodley Road in Oxford, was charged with four counts of indecent assault.

And Owais Khan, 31, of Belvedere Road in Oxford, was charged with one count of indecent assault and five of rape.

The latter four are due to appear at Oxford Magistrates' Court today, while a date is yet to be set for Assad Hussain.

Three men, aged 36, 34 and 37, all from Oxford, have been released on bail until July 8.

And a 44-year-old man, also from Oxford, has been bailed until July 15.

By Adam Flinn

Arrests were made following Tuesday morning's raids for rape, oral rape, sexual grooming, engaging in sexual activity with a child and indecent assault on three young girls between 1999 and 2007.

The investigation, named Operation Sabaton, started last year, with officers looking into 60 offences.

Detective Superintendent Joe Kidman, head of Thames Valley Police's Protecting Vulnerable People Unit, said: "This is a complex investigation into child sexual exploitation in Oxford.

"We are working with our partners at Oxfordshire County Council to safeguard and support the victims, whose identities will be protected.

"I understand [Tuesday's] events will have an impact on the community and residents will be concerned about the nature of these arrests."

He continued: "As you will understand, this is an ongoing investigation. We are not able to provide all the information straight away, but we will keep the community updated when we can."

Thames Valley Police has also been working with Oxfordshire County Council in Operation Sabaton, with six social workers offering support the victims.

Police stress that Sabaton arrests "not linked" to Bullfinch

NEWS that five men were charged yesterday comes in the aftermath of Operation Bullfinch, a separate investigation into child abuse in the city.

Police stressed that the latest arrests were in no way linked to the previous operation, which has so far seen 10 people jailed for extreme sexual abuse of young girls.

Operation Bullfinch launched in May 2011, with the first seven men jailed in June 2013 for a combined total of 95 years.

Two more were imprisoned in June 2014, while another was sentenced in March this year.

Bullfinch was linked to the Nanford Guest House in Iffley Road, Oxford.

And a serious case review that was published in March reported the "serious failings" of Thames Valley Police and Oxfordshire County Council into the investigation, stating numerous opportunities to stop street grooming had been missed.

Speaking after the Operation Sabaton arrests, Hannah Farncombe, head of safeguarding at the county council, said: "In recent years we've trained more than 8,000 professionals across all agencies who have contact with children in Oxfordshire.

"They also know how to spot the signs of child sexual exploitation and can report these to our multi-agency Kingfisher team."

A police statement added that they continue to raise public awareness of child sexual exploitation, and have given training to 550 guesthouses, hotels and other businesses in the area.

Dementia group members create 'Chaos in Carterton'

MEMBERS of a Carterton 'memory club' who suffer from dementia have created and performed a radio drama that has helped them remember elements of their past.

'Chaos in Carterton' tells the story of a bull being reported on the lose in the town, which later turns out to be an air balloon flying over.

Panicking residents take refuge in a pub, where they start speaking with a newspaper reporter about why they came to live in Carterton, and their lives in the 1950s, '60s and '70s.

It was created by members of the Carterton Lights Up group, which launched in the town last year.

Sharon Woodward, a community artist who came up with the idea, said: "Creating a radio play really stimulates the imagination and is great fun.

"It was very rewarding to do it again with the Carterton group, as it sparked off so many interesting memories and anecdotes.

"Encouraging people with dementia to remember past events is very important as it helps keeps memories active."

One of the group's members, Carterton resident Pat Ward, said: "Taking part in 'Chaos in Carterton' was so interesting, getting everyone's ideas and pulling it all together brought back lots of memories.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"I enjoy coming to the club - it's very friendly, everyone is good company and it always makes me laugh."

The Lights Up group is one of two that run in West Oxfordshire – the other is based in Chipping Norton – which are run on behalf of the district council by Memory Clubs UK.

James Mills, the council's cabinet member for health, said: "Living with dementia is not easy for people, or for their families and carers.

"It is an ever-growing issue, especially in West Oxfordshire where we have an ageing population.

"Memory clubs offer valuable support and so we have been happy to lead on this initiative, working alongside other organisations and the voluntary sector."

The Carterton group meets on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month at Highlands, on Burford Road in the town, from 10.30am to 12.30pm.

Fears of appeal over Burford Road homes

• From front page

The statement continued: "Get your banners and best anti-Gladman rags on – we will be showing them how much Witney doesn't want this."

More than 350 objections were submitted to the council about the 260 homes.

These related to the loss of green space, that the development would contribute to overburdened roads, a lack of school spaces, and its proximity to the nearby FloGas plant.

Laura Price, county councillor for Witney South and Central, said: "I think it's highly likely [they will appeal the second plans] because that seems to be the approach of the developer.

"But I think residents and people like myself are pretty committed to the idea of not letting it drop and not being worn down by appeal after appeal.

"Every time an appeal comes through, we'll put forward our arguments and hope that the planning process holds that up."

Before last week's meeting, Gladman had said they had addressed the five reasons why their first application had been refused.

This included the site being "an illogical urban extension of the town" and that the impact of traffic had been adequately dealt with.

Gladman were unavailable for further comment.

Hugo Boss 'guilty' after boy crushed to death

HUGO Boss UK has pleaded guilty to health and safety breaches in its Bicester Village shop where a four-year-old boy was crushed to death by a fallen mirror.

Representatives of the designer clothing company admitted the offences at Banbury Magistrates' Court on Tuesday.

Austen Harrison, of Crawley in West Sussex, died after an 18-stone mirror fell on top of him in the changing room area of the Hugo Boss store in June 2013.

He was left with irreparable brain damage, and his life support machine was turned off at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital four days later.

At Tuesday's hearing, Barry Berlin, prosecuting, recommended that a starting point of a £100,000 fine for each offence should be given.

He said: "Plainly this is a very serious matter relating to a child aged four-and-a-half who on June 4, 2013 was struck on the head by a seven feet tall, 18-stone free standing three-way mirror.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"It wasn't fixed to the wall despite its own requirements.

"We say bearing in mind that the injuries the child sustained resulted in his death this is a case that should be dealt with in the crown court."

District judge David Chinery adjourned the case for sentencing, with a provisional date set for June 19 at Oxford Crown Court.

He said: "This is quite plainly an exceptionally sad case and one where I consider that the penalties available in this court are clearly not appropriate to a case of this magnitude."

In March this year the jury at the inquest ruled that the mirror should have been attached to the wall of the shop.

Coroner Darren Salter previously called the incident "an accident waiting to happen".

Triple murder suspect 'hanged'

TRIPLE murder suspect Jed Allen died by hanging, a post-mortem indicated.

A two-day police manhunt for the 21-year-old (pictured) ended on May 25 when two members of the public discovered Allen's body.

He was the key suspect in the murders of his six-year-old half-sister Derin Jordon, mum Janet Jordon, 48, and her partner Phillip Howard, 44.

Police spokeswomen Connie Primer confirmed yesterday a post-mortem suggested Allen died from hanging.

Oxfordshire Coroner's Court opened an inquest into Allen's death, as well as inquests into the three victim's deaths yesterday.

The family was killed at their home in Vicarage Road, Didcot, on the evening of May 23.

A funeral for Ms Jordon and Derin is due to take place at Oxford Crematorium's St John's Chapel on June 11.

Hundreds of ribbons have been tied to signposts and lampposts across Didcot and neighbouring towns in tribute to the family.

Council's £70k clean-up of poisoned soil

• The ongoing works at Hinksey Park

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD City Council is spending £70,000 to resurface two abandoned outdoor swimming pools at Hinksey Park after the soil used to fill them was found to be contaminated.

The two pools off Abingdon Road have gone unused since 1998 when a new outdoor swimming pool was created.

They were later filled with soil so grass and trees could be grown.

But Oxford City Council spokesman Tom Jennings confirmed soil sample tests found 'tiny pockets of contamination' - of a higher than usual level of a toxic hydrocarbon called benzo(a)pyrene, a chemical found in car fumes and cigarette smoke linked to cancer.

A top layer of the contaminated soil is being replaced on the recommendation of the Environment Agency and the City Council's Environmental Health team.

The outdoor pool was shut on May 5.

Tim Sadler, executive director for direct services at the city council, said: "The council had been trying to find a way to fill in the old water tanks for a number of years to create a usable area of parkland.

"The need for the new work was identified when we undertook additional soil surveys and although it has a low risk, we have undertaken precautionary work to remove these areas of soil.

"The works are due to be completed within the next few weeks."

The contaminated soil came from a construction site in Blackbird Leys, but the new soil is being provided by Middlesex topsoil company Springbridge Direct LTD, which has been tested to be clean and chemically inactive.

Abingdon resident and author Paul Gustafson said: "This is a complete waste of public money and shows incompetence and mismanagement from those who made the decision.

"By only removing the top layer it still poses a risk as the soil could be contaminated right at the bottom."

Uni's £11m new building

OXFORD University officially opened a new £11million building for Middle East studies last Tuesday.

Architectural firm Zaha Hadid designed the glass-fronted building, which expands the Middle East Centre in St Antony's College.

The new building doubled the space for the Middle East Centre's library and includes a 118-seat lecture theatre.

Sheikha Moza bint Nasser of Qatar, chair of the Qatar Foundation, was the keynote speaker at the buildings unveiling.

She said: "Qatar Foundation and the Oxford Middle East Centre have a long and fruitful history of partnership.

"Such collaboration and communication are essential in driving open debate and helping us build just societies based on universal, eternal values."

Founded in 1957, the Middle East Centre at St Antony's College is the main place to studying the modern Middle East at Oxford University.

Decision before 2016 on council's headquarters

SOUTH Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse District Councils are set to make a decision on whether to rebuild their old headquarters at Crowmarsh Gifford by 2016.

Staff started moving in to their four-year temporary home at Milton Park last week.

The councils were forced to relocate after arson fires destroyed their former base in Benson Lane, causing between £15million and £20m of damage on January 15.

About 80 people from the planning and housing departments have so far moved into the three-floored facility at Milton Park.

But work is still underway to prepare for the rest of the staff.

All 350 council workers are set to move in by July,

David Buckle, chief executive of the two district councils, said: "We are still waiting for news from the insurance company on the damages caused by the fire but we expect a decision before next year on what we do with the old headquarters."

But Mr Buckle also informed the Guardian that he doesn't see the new headquarters as a permanent home for the council staff.

He said: "It's a great location but the whole building isn't really ideal, as we don't have a council chamber and committees won't be able to hold meetings here."

SODC leader John Cotton said: "The job goes on and things still need doing but I'm very happy with this new place and we are now tangibly close to where we were before."

Irish academic set to become Oxford University's first female vice-chancellor

AN IRISH academic is set to be the first woman to lead the University of Oxford after she was put forward as the next Vice-Chancellor.

Professor Louise Richardson, who has been the principal and vice chancellor of the University of St Andrews for more than six years, is set to inherit the post after the university announced her nomination last Thursday.

Prof Richardson was also formerly the executive dean of Harvard University's Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study.

She said after the nomination: "I feel enormously privileged to be given the opportunity to lead this remarkable institution during an exciting time for higher education.

"I am very much looking forward to working with talented, experienced and dedicated colleagues to advance Oxford's global position."

The university's chancellor, Lord Patten of Barnes, who chaired the nominating committee, said: "The panel was deeply impressed by Professor Richardson's strong commitment to the educational and scholarly values which Oxford holds dear.

Subject to the approval of the university's congregation - their parliament - Prof Richardson will succeed current Vice-Chancellor Professor Andrew Hamilton, on January 1 next year.

The position carries one of the largest salaries in UK higher education, with a pay package of £434,000 in 2013 according to data by the Times Higher Education magazine.

Prof Richardson's main publication is 'What terrorists want: Understanding the enemy, containing the threat.'

European adventure in memory of Skye

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE memory of Abingdon five-year-old Skye Hall has sparked a group of five Oxford friends into action – to cycle from Budapest to London for the charity his parents set up.

Clym Buxton rallied four friends together for the 2,500km effort to fundraise for Blue Skye Thinking.

The charity was set up by Skye's parents, Sally and Andrew Hall, after the youngster lost his battle against a cancerous brain tumour last year.

Mr Buxton was a former Abingdon School pupil of Mr Hall, a PE teacher, and is now a teacher himself.

• Skye Hall, five, and (right) Andrew Hall with Clym Buxton

The 22-year-old said: "I have always wanted to thank Andrew for his input into my sporting interests and I can find no other fitting way to do so."

Mr Hall added: "It is heartwarming for me to know that as a teacher I have such a profound influence over my student's lives.

"So much so that they feel inspired to support our charity. I wish the boys the best of luck for the ride and I am sure they will do me proud."

Blue Skye Thinking has raised enough money to fund a PhD position to work on childhood brain tumours, but the charity's next big goal is to raise £200,000 for a postdoctoral researcher for a full three years.

To help make the mark, Mr Buxton and friends Jon Durbin, Matthew Landells, Robert Noyes and Marcus Woods will fly out to Budapest on July 14 for the mammoth cycle challenge.

They will pedal along the Danube cycle track in South Germany before heading north into France and Holland and then catching the ferry to the UK from Amsterdam.

The group aims to arrive back in London by mid-August.

Mr Buxton, who runs cycling charity company Bike4Charity, said: "This will definitely be an adventure for us all."

They plan to 'sleep when they can', and will be carrying camping equipment on their bikes.

Councillor's Column

Cllr Bob Price
Leader of Oxford City Council

Tackling anti-social behaviour

GOVERNMENTS have tried various methods of dealing with anti-social behaviour, including famously ineffective ASBOs, and measures to control street drinking, out of control dogs, littering and aggressive begging.

Many of these measures have been replaced since last year with a multi-purpose regulation – known as a 'Public Spaces Protection Order'.

The new system can be enforced by fixed penalty notices like car parking fines rather than through court.

Oxford City Council has been consulting on an order to cover the city centre.

The police or council officer dealing with the behaviour would have to first ask the person to stop doing it and warn them that carrying on could lead to a fine.

A small lobby group has been arguing against the inclusion of the busking and street entertainment, suggesting this will affect the lively character of the centre.

On the contrary, the voluntary code of practice that has operated for over a decade has helped create the vibrant, exciting city centre we cherish.

The new order will help to deal with the small number of cases where buskers and street entertainers breach these provisions, causing complaints, and don't respond to requests to stop.

Oxford has a great city centre, but it is small and can be easily affected by selfish and unpleasant behaviour. The order will help to keep it welcoming for everyone.

What does it feel like to drive an electric car?

ELECTRIC cars are the future, so we've been told. They are more economically efficient, require barely any fuel and can be charged in the same manner as you'd charge your mobile phone. But how do they feel to drive?

I had the opportunity to test out BMW's new i3 and i8 range as part of Oxford City Council's annual Low Carbon Oxford week, and I can tell you that these cars are as soothing to drive as having a massage.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

They feel weightless as you drive without the roar of the streets or the wind against the car.

The cars adjust to every slight pressure as you ease on the pedal and steer with complete control, giving you the freedom to simply relax and enjoy the ride.

On the packed, busy roads of Oxford, it felt as pleasurable as driving down an empty country road.

Driving an electric car is the pleasure of driving with patience, with relaxation assured. You could drive for miles and miles and not even realise how far you'd gone or where you were heading.

The cars drive with such control that you are fearless as you put your foot down, it grants you a complete ascension of your role as a driver that you simply don't quite know what else you could possibly ask for.

The car glides along the road like feathers are holding it up and darts away as soon as you ease it down.

Therein, along with the BMW i8 lies the fault in these cars. The thought of speed just flies straight out of your head, there's no indication of how fast you're really going and at 50mph, and you could be thinking your coasting along at 30mph.

However, upon reflection it seems fair to say that while electric cars aren't our guaranteed future on the roads, they're certainly one of the most refreshing driving experiences on offer.

Low Carbon Oxford Week takes places from June 13 to June 21.

DREAMING OF GOING ON SAFARI?
Come and talk to our experts - we have the widest choice of wildlife-watching itineraries across the globe, whatever your budget.

Following on from David's previous articles outlining the background to Great Experience Travel in Witney, and their experience of creating dream-fulfilling trips to Australia and New Zealand, he now looks at another popular holiday option that many people have on their 'bucket lists' – going on safari.

We have lots of clients who are veritable 'safari-aholics', who have fallen in love with the great open spaces of Africa, and can't get enough of the excitement of seeing many animals that we are normally only familiar with seeing behind the bars of a cage or through a reinforced glass window at a zoo or wildlife park. Obviously, these institutions do a fabulous job introducing us to exotic wildlife, and fulfil a vital role in the conservation of endangered species that we would otherwise only know from TV documentaries. However, nothing quite beats the experience of getting 'up close and personal' with some of the 'big cats', or coming within a few metres of a herd of elephants or family of giraffes with nothing between you and them than the side of your vehicle and the knowledge and experience of your local guide. They are experts at spotting the signs when the animals have lost interest in being photographed, and start to show signs of wanting to get on with their own lives undisturbed. In a flash, a group of lions can disappear silently into the bush, a leopard will vanish before your eyes, and the elephants will set off into the high grass. You are in their territory, so don't owe you any favours.

It may be a statement of the obvious, but the first thing that we have to explain to people asking about going on a safari is that we are dealing with wild animals, who may not want to be seen, and wont obediently stay still whilst you click away with your camera. To put this into context, but the typical roaming and hunting area of a pride of lions – a group of maybe 6 to 8 animals – is about the same size as the Blenheim Palace Estate lands, and for some inexplicable reason, Mother Nature made them the same colour as the grassland in which they live. If they don't want to be found, then they wont be – no matter how far you have travelled to see them. Obviously, however, the guides at the safari parks that we recommend are experts, and will know the animals' habits and characteristics, so will do everything in their power to make sure you have an unforgettable experience, and become a safari addict.

For first-time safari visitors, we tend to recommend visiting South Africa or Kenya/Tanzania. Here, the safari parks are well-established, with a broad spectrum of styles of accommodation from the relatively rustic tented sites to super-luxurious lodges where you will lack for nothing. A lot of the parks boast the 'big five' - where you will have a good chance of seeing lion, elephant, buffalo, leopard and rhinoceros. However, others specialise in a mixture of antelope species, giraffes and abundant birdlife. You tell us what your safari dreams are, and we will find the right park for you to visit, where you will see the wildlife that you want to see, whatever time of year you can travel.

For more experienced travellers, then there are great opportunities for safaris in Botswana and Zimbabwe, taking in the immensity of Victoria Falls, or the dramatic colours and amazing landscape of Namibia. Of course, if you are interested in the great apes and gorillas, Uganda and Rwanda offer incredible experiences.

All safaris can be linked to other types of holiday – such as citybreaks to Cape Town, or relaxing on exotic beaches, and of course, don't stop on the continent of Africa – India, Asia, South America all offer a range of incredible experiences. Come in for a chat over a coffee and we'll help you to fulfil your dreams…wild animals permitting, naturally.

A peek behind the scenes of That's Oxford

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• That's Oxford's news editor Alex Iszatt mans the camera

OXFORDSHIRE'S new TV station That's Oxford has its sights set on adding new flavour to broadcasting local news and stories.

The Oxfordshire Guardian had a sneak peek behind the scenes of the channel 8 station on Thursday.

That's Oxford has started a busy schedule of programming after a soft-launch in April.

It airs every day from 5pm until Midnight.

That's Oxford chief executive Dan Cass said: "We're really excited, we have been getting a lot of really strong responses from the local audience, which is fantastic."

Mr Cass added: "We want to provide an opportunity for people to tell us their stories and we want to be a voice for local people.

"We are here not to just cover news, but the lives of the people of Oxfordshire."

The TV station, based at the Witney campus of Abingdon and Witney College, is now fully up and running for Oxfordshire residents to share community stories and keep up to date with news.

A news programme called Oxford News Now runs everyday from 5pm, inviting guest speakers to discuss current affairs and airing various clips filmed on location.

That's Oxford presenters also host chat shows on weekdays from 7pm for 45 minutes on news.

Residents can find That's Oxford on freeview channel 8, and may have to re-tune their TV to find it.

The station could also be coming to Virgin Media next year.

That's Oxford's news editor Alex Iszatt said: "It has been a hectic start – we had a few technical issues, which occasionally still plague us, but we still aim to provide local stories – and that is the fun part.

"We are so pleased to be up and running, we can now tell people that we are there, on freeview channel 8, and to tune in – and to send us stories."

She added: "We're aiming to work hand in hand with charities, businesses and people and provide the news that they want."

The station has five full time staff and is aiming to develop and expand programming once technical issues have been ironed out.

The station is part of parent company That's Media, which holds nine licences to channels based across the UK.

The first station, That's Solent, launched last year.

Police campaign

OXON: Police have launched a new public awareness campaign in response to the potential £90million of cuts to the policing budget by 2018.

Thames Valley Police launched 'Much More Than Crime Fighters' on Monday to raise support for the police after concerns were raised that officer numbers in the Thames Valley could fall by 356 during the next three years.

The campaign aims to 'highlight the consequences of cuts to policing budgets in Thames Valley' and what it means for the public.

The campaign has its own website at muchmorethancrimefighters.co.uk.

Fostering events

OXON: Oxfordshire County Council has urged residents to 'have a conversation' about fostering in a series of public information events being held this month as part of Foster Care Fortnight.

The council is running three events with the first tonight at Abingdon Health and Wellbeing Centre from 6.30pm.

The second is on June 10 from 6.30pm at Oxford's County Hall.

The third event will take place at the Witney Hub on June 11 from 12pm, with a recruitment team and foster carers on hand at the events.

MP's Corner

Ed Vaizey
MP for Wantage and Didcot

MP ready for new five-year term

I WOULD like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who voted to re-elect me MP for the Wantage and Didcot constituency in the recent general election.

It goes without saying that I will work for everyone who lives in the constituency regardless of how they voted.

The main issues I came across while out canvassing and at the many hustings I attended relate to concerns over housing developments.

It is inevitable that we will get additional houses.

I have always been very honest about this, but it is crucial that we get the relevant infrastructure to support development.

I will try to ensure that this is delivered in full and on schedule by the council and housing developers.

Other related issues that I shall be looking into are the provision of local primary school places and concerns over GP services.

I am also delighted to have been given the opportunity to resume my ministerial roles at the Department of Culture Media and Sport and at the Department of Business Innovation and Skills.

These are portfolios I particularly enjoy.

Aspects such as the roll out of broadband expansion are extremely important to many of my constituents, particularly those who live in the villages.

Congratulations are also due to all the newly elected district, town and parish councillors – I look forward to working with those in the Wantage and Didcot constituency.

My thanks also to all the councillors who either chose not to stand again or were unsuccessful at these elections, for the work they have done for their communities over the past years.

It is much appreciated.

Witney café to undergo charity makeover

WITNEY'S Windrush Leisure Centre is set for a stylish new makeover as a learning disabilities charity takes over management of the popular café, which opens after a revamp next month.

The Yellow Submarine charity, which provides opportunities for young people with learning disabilities in Oxfordshire, will run the café as a 'social enterprise'.

The café will be run by some of the adults that the charity works with, presenting the option of gaining new skills for its participants.

New furniture and a revamped serving counter will be included as part of the refurbishment.

Cllr James Mills, West Oxfordshire District Council's cabinet member for leisure, said: "We believe this is a win-win situation."

Toby Staveley, Yellow Submarine manager, added: "It's a wonderful opportunity and we can't wait to get started.

"Our café will create incredible, life changing opportunities for young people with disabilities."

Yellow Submarine already operates a café in Oxford's Park End Street.

Councillors 'delighted' by new city marathon route

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD city councillors expressed their delight as the new route for the Vitality Oxford Half Marathon was unveiled last week.

The race, in its fifth year, will take runners through a new route begining and ending in the city centre in October.

City council leader Bob Price, who will be taking part, said: "I am delighted the half marathon will be in the city centre - it promises to be a tour of the most beautiful parts of the city and will also help raise much-needed money for charities.

"I ran in the first marathon and I hope that many more runners will join me, and more still line the street to cheer us on."

Also competing will be city councillor and events champion Mark Lygo, who said: "I am incredibly excited about the new route. I think it could turn this event into one of the top half marathons in the UK."

He added: "The new route is going to be flat and fast, so, having run in all of the previous ones, I am particularly looking forward to trying to beat my personal best.

• The new route for the Vitality Oxford Half Marathon this October

"It will be great to see the city full of people cheering us on."

The new 13.1-mile route sees competitors run from St Giles', down the full length of Banbury Road before heading along Marston Ferry Road.

The runners will then head back into the city centre as they go along the Banbury Road, through University Parks, run alongside the River Cherwell before looping back through the centre to the finish line in St Giles.

Registration for the marathon is open at the event's website: oxfordhalf.co.uk.

Competition

WIN British Museum tickets

Defining beauty: the body in ancient Greek art, is a major exhibition focusing on the human body.

FOR centuries the ancient Greeks experimented with ways of representing the human body, both as an object of beauty and a bearer of meanings. The remarkable works of art in the exhibition range from abstract simplicity of prehistoric figurines to breathtaking realism in the age of Alexander the Great. These works continued to inspire artists for hundreds of years, giving form to thought and shaping our own perceptions of ourselves.

The exhibition, sponsored by Julius Baer, features over 120 objects, including some of the most beautiful Greek sculpture to have survived from antiquity. In addition to iconic white marble statues, gaze upon exquisite terracottas, beautiful bronzes and fascinating vases that demonstrate the quality and inventiveness of ancient Greek art. For the first time in decades, a selection of the Parthenon sculptures will be displayed in the context of other great works of Greek art. Together these objects tell a visually impressive story of the human self.

Closing date:
Wednesday, June 10th

Explore the human condition through ancient Greek eyes and see how everything in their world – sexual and social identity, gods, monsters and even natural phenomena – was portrayed in human form. Discover the significance of the British Museum's Greek and Roman collection, and the importance of its global setting in London, where it is an integral part of a world story.

We have two pairs of tickets that can be won and to be in with a chance of winning a pair just answer this simple question:

Q: Which ancient culture does the exhibition Defining Beauty focus on?

FOSTERING - make a connection

Fostering is a way of providing family life for children who cannot live with their own parents. It is often used to provide temporary care while parents get help sorting out problems or to help children or young people through a difficult time in their lives.

With over 63,000 children living with 52,500 foster carers in the UK, many people will be able to demonstrate their link to fostering. Family members, friends, neighbours or colleagues may foster, have been fostered or work to support children and young people in foster care.

This Foster Care Fortnight we are inviting everyone to 'make a connection' to fostering, to raise awareness and have a conversation about foster care.

Locally in Oxfordshire we have seen the number of looked after children increase to over 500, we currently have around 300 fostering families.

Some fostering facts:

There is no age limit to foster - to foster you have to be over 18, we have foster carers who are still fostering in their 70's

Single? Not a problem - children need stable loving homes by single parents and couples, whatever their gender or sexual orientation

Disabilities or not, you can still foster - health problems and disabilities will not stop you from fostering, provided you can care for the children

No ethnic matching - there are children from many different backgrounds needing to be fostered, what is important is that you can meet the needs of the child

The children:

- Teenagers – 50 per cent of children in care in Oxfordshire are 12 years and over
- Sibling groups - we aim to place together rather than apart
- Babies and toddlers –need to be placed with foster carers who are at home full time
- Short Breaks – offering help and support to a family and their disabled child
- Children with specialist fostering needs – who are our most vulnerable children and are part of our specialist fostering schemes.

What help is there? Specialist training & support is given, carers receive an allowance and in some instances additional fees. There are lots of other benefits when you foster with Oxfordshire County Council, we give our carers access to lots of local leisure activities at reduced prices, the MAX card are just a few of the benefits - because we care that you care.

All training and support is offered locally to where you live and you will be working with others in your local community.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Just a touch of Italian opera

• Francis Church as Germont and Elinor Jane Moran as Violetta (picture by Christopher Tribble)

GIUSEPPE Verdi's, 'La Traviata' opera has stood the test of time – and is still proving popular 162 years after it was first performed in Venice.

Whether that is for its powerful songs or gripping story, 'La Traviata' or 'The Fallen Woman' will be performed at the Oxford Playhouse tonight and tomorrow.

The 1853 opera follows courtesan Violetta, who has stolen the heart of middle class Alfredo.

However, despite loving someone from a lower class, Alfredo's father Giorgio persuades Violetta that she is ruining his son's life and future, and tragedy unfolds.

Put on by the Olivier Award winning OperaUpClose, the performance will be directed by artistic director Robin Norton-Hale.

"I think the opera is a protest against society's hypocrisy. Verdi shows that Violetta is by far the most principled of the characters, whilst Alfredo and Germont are both weak and selfish in different ways," Ms Norton-Hale told the Guardian.

"We have a wonderful soprano called Louisa Tee as Violetta and she can sing this very demanding role.

"One opera critic said she was as good as anything you'd hear at the Royal Opera when we performed the show at Soho Theatre last summer, and she's also an incredible actress."

Ms Norton-Hale, who won an Olivier Award for Best Opera (La Boheme) back in 2011, revealed translating the script from its original Italian was a 'challenge'.

"Italian is an easier language to sing in than English as it has lots of nice open vowel sounds, so I have to think about what the singers will say if I give them tongue-twisters," she said.

"It's always a challenge finding English words which have exactly the right rhythm for the music, but you have to be quite inventive, and sometimes not all that literal in terms of what the Italian means."

The 35-year old studied English Literature at Hertford College, Oxford, so the performance will be something of a return.

"It's such a cliché but I remember punting in the summer on numerous occasions with a sunny haze over Christchurch Meadow. I have rose-tinted memories about the weather," she added.

"I think there's something about punting that is so laid-back. It's so slow, it's definitely about the journey rather than the destination – which makes it really special and dreamy... and probably means you only ever have time to do it as a student!"

Suitable for anyone over the age of 12, two productions on June 4 and June 5 will start at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost from £11 to £22.

Marmozets at the O2

THEY took Oxford's O2 Academy by storm last December and are back for one last gig before jetting off abroad.

Alternative rock group Marmozets are at the O2 in Cowley Road on Tuesday, June 23.

The gig will mark the last date of the band's UK tour before heading to Europe.

The fivesome will take in Belgium, Poland, Sweden and Denmark as they fleet by various festivals.

Once the European tour comes to a climax, the band will make their way to Japan and Australia before ending the summer at Reading and Leeds Festivals.

Drummer Josh Macintyre explained how they unwind after a hectic period: "A lot of the boys - Jack, Sam and Will - love to play football, FIFA or anything about football."

"We also like going to the pub together with family and friends to hang out since we are never home too often recently.

"I personally like to hang with friends and I create electronic music and DJ aside from the band, and hopefully I'm going to start doing some shows of my own and release an EP or two or some singles with my music which I'm so excited about.

"Apart from that, I also like to do some filming or writing music on the piano."

The group, which formed in 2007, are known for their tumultuous live shows that have gained them widespread acclaim; Marmozets were nominated for 'Best British Newcomer' at the 2013 Kerrang! awards and voted 'Best New UK Band' by Big Cheese magazine.

Their debut album, 'The Weird and Wonderful Marmozets' peaked at number 25 in the UK Album Charts.

Last month, Jack, Will, Becca, Sam and Josh finished touring with Muse on their 2015 UK Psycho Tour.

"We just like to rock and roll. There's nothing really more to it," Josh told the Guardian.

"The best thing about being in a band is playing music with your best friends and family whilst trying to push the boundaries in our writing, touring, meeting new people, seeing places and experiencing experiences that some will never be able to tell or live out.

"And meeting fans I guess too."

Doors open at 7pm.

The event has now sold out.

Five Star Swing band

IF you're a fan of big name jazz stars like Frank Sinatra and Ella Fitzgerald, then does Didcot's Cornerstone Arts Centre have a show for you.

Five Star Swing is in town on Sunday, June 7, to lay on audience favourites for the one-off show.

The jazz orchestra is on a mammoth eight-month UK tour ending on New Year's Eve with their show, called The Big Band.

But they are no strangers to performing to a packed audience at the Station Road stage.

" I have been performing on theatre tours with the band for 10 years now and we performed at the Cornerstone Arts Centre five years ago where it was completely sold out, so we are very much looking forward to be coming back," band leader Chris Smith Jr told the Guardian.

Chris, a trumpeter and pianist, has performed on various TV shows as well as at top venues including Oxfordshire's Blenheim Palace and London's Kensington Palace, Imperial War Museum and Chelsea Flower Show.

And he can count former Prime Ministers and broadcasters among his listeners, having performed for the likes of Tony Blair, Phil Collins, Bob Monkhouse and Terry Wogan.

But there was one performance that Chris relished the most.

"Since joining the group, my biggest highlight would have been performing alongside Dame Vera Lynn at 'Children in Need' on the BBC," he said.

"Also, my father, Chris Smith Senior, was my inspiration to start playing music, and he performed with the great Frank Sinatra on trombone!"

When asked what Chris would have done if he hadn't entered music, he replied: "I would have entered into the caring profession."

The show starts at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost £15, or £13.50 for concessions.

For more details or to book, call the box office on 01235 515144.

SUNFLOWERS & OTHER SOUNDS
"Brilliant young chamber orchestra, Project Instrumental, make their JdP Series debut and bring its spring season to a close, igniting a typically imaginative programme of the never heard before, the rarely heard and the preferably heard.
A concert for those who prefer their classical music experiences enlivening and colourful, Sunflowers & Other Sounds balances two of the most exciting voices writing music today, alongside two pre-eminences in the history of Western classical music. The world premieres of Fokkens' neo concerto grosso-like work for string trio and string orchestra and Cutler's new arrangement of his Music for Sunflowers for solo viola and string orchestra are bookended with Shostakovich's youthful, avant-gardist Prelude & Scherzo for string octet and Tchaikovsky's perennially soaring Serenade for Strings.
Recently described as "simply knockout", Project Instrumental brings thrilling performances to unbounded audiences. Bold, imaginative and boundary defying, this virtuosic ensemble strips back the peripherals with their straightforward contemporary approach to classical music."

Honda's World Record attempt

HONDA are four days into a Guinness World Record attempt, testing the fuel efficiency of its i-DTEC engine to the limits.

REVIEW: Honda i-DTEC
By James Richings

Two Honda team members set out from Belgium on Monday for an 8,500-mile drive across 24 European nations in a Honda Civic Tourer.

The aim is to cruise through the countries using as little diesel as possible with a 1.6 i-DTEC engine, setting a new world record on the way.

Fergal McGrath and Julian Warren, of Honda's European research and development team, each face almost nine full days at the Honda's helm traveling in a clockwise loop around Europe.

The pair are aiming to finish back at their starting point on June 25, having covered 8,459 miles.

"We are very much looking forward to the record attempt and while we're excited, we're both a little nervous about the scale of the task that awaits us," Fergal said.

"A huge amount of planning has gone into taking on this challenge and we look forward to what we hope will be a successful result when we return to Brussels on June 25. We've got more than 170 hours behind the wheel to contend with."

Honda aims to set a benchmark with a Guinness World Records title that has never before been attempted in Europe, and under their rules the same two drivers must be in the car for every kilometre of the journey.

Fergal and Julian volunteered to take up the challenge and will be charged with driving an average 370miles, taking around 7.5 hours each day.

The official Guinness World Records title is 'Lowest Fuel Consumption – all 24 contiguous EU countries', measured in litres per 100km and miles per gallon, calculated over the entire journey.

If successful, the new record would apply to all cars, including hybrid and electric models.

Based on strict guidelines, the car has to enter each of the 24 countries collecting a range of evidence, including a fuel/mileage logbook, GPS readings, video, photographs and independent witness signatures as proof.

They will cover Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Croatia, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain and Sweden.

The route does not extend to the UK, Ireland, Cyprus and Malta because the car is only allowed to travel by road.

Philip Crossman, managing director of Honda UK, said: "Since its launch in 2013, we have seen the 1.6 i-DTEC engine consistently overperform on real-world fuel efficiency in our Civic, Civic Tourer and CR-V models.

"This is our opportunity to put it to the ultimate test on a huge scale.

"We are very confident of a great result and we wish the team all the very best of luck as they take on the challenge."

United prepare for new synthetic pitch

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD United will be playing their football on a brand new semi-synthetic pitch next season after the club decided to rip up the Kassam Stadium pitch.

Bulldozers pulled up the pitch on Monday as preparations for the new playing surface got underway.

Manufacturer Greenfields will lay the new Xtragrass pitch, which will be prepared ready for the start of United's Sky Bet League Two season campaign in August.

All the grass on the pitch was stripped by Monday afternoon and the new pitch is said to be a combination of grass and synthetic fibres.

U's fans have long jeered at the state of the Kassam's pitch, especially since rugby team London Welsh started playing home games on the pitch three years ago.

Last season saw the stadium suffer heightened criticism, with some matches forced to be delayed whilst grounds staff dealt with issues with the turf.

United chief executive Mark Ashton said: "The club has been working over the last two months to find the best possible solution to improve the playing surface moving forward."

The stadium's old pitch was installed in 2011 and Ashton says it is now 'beyond its natural life'.

The new system is similar to the one installed at Coventry City's Ricoh Arena.

Ashton added: "We all recognised that the pitch was not of the required standard last season and despite substantial efforts from the club and stadium company, it was the clear the whole pitch needed to be replaced.

"The new pitch has a long-term life cycle and will sustain football and rugby if required.

"In order to move forward on the playing side we felt it was vital to play on a surface that supported the managers and the players."

U's Girl's Centre of Excellence gained FA national recognition yesterday.

Oxford United will know who their first opponent of the season when the fixtures for the League Two campaign are announced on June 17.

Fraser played 46 Test matches and 42 one day internationals for the national team and is regarded as one of the most respected cricketers of his era.

United snatch point against tough Villa side

OXFORD United Women fought back against a tough Aston Villa Ladies side away from home thanks to two late goals.

Ella Franklin-Fraiture and Kayleigh Hines earned United a well-deserved point with 20 minutes to go after they had trailed to Katie Wilkinson and Amy West goals.

United keeper Demi Lambourne was very busy from the off and conceded the opener with 14 minutes on the clock as Wilkinson headed home when in free space after United could not deal with a corner.

The goal woke United up and forward Gemma Simmonds spurned a glorious opportunity as she spurred home a fantastic chance, with Hines' follow-up effort narrowly wide of the left-hand post.

Wilkinson missed another great opportunity for the home side and Villa went further in front just after the break as United left West open in the penalty box to bring down a through ball and pick her spot.

United simply could not break down the Villa defence as they surged forward looking for a response.

With 70 minutes on the clock, United finally rallied and Franklin-Fraiture gave the U's hope after perfectly timing a run forward to meet Geogria Timm's header and then lob Villa keeper Jess Myers.

United kept the tempo in their favour and with 10 minutes left, won a free-kick on the edge of the area which was superbly executed by star player Hines to seal a point.

United are now seventh in the table as they head into a well-earned month's break, before facing London Bees in their next match on July 12.

Smith's fine form continues with fifth place in Italy

OXFORD'S Bradley Smith continued his superb form in the year's MotoGP world championship after he grinded out a fifth place finish at the Italian Grand Prix in Mugello.

The Monster Yamaha Tech3 team rider secured his fourth top-six finish of the season on Sunday, despite starting the race from 11th on the grid.

Smith had come fifth in the morning's warm up and his confidence showed as he courageously charged the first corner, overtaking seven riders by the end of the first lap.

Smith continued to push hard on track, despite falling back to eighth.

He then became locked in a battle with fellow British rider Cal Crutchlow half way through the race, from which he emerged victorious.

And with three laps to go, Smith was riding in sixth.

The 24-year-old kept plugging away and in a dramatic final lap, he managed to steer himself into fifth position as he crossed the finish line.

Smith was delighted after the race and spoke about his enjoyment to secure the result from a tricky starting position.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

He said: "I'm really pleased with the weekend's fifth place finish after a superb race that was a real pleasure to ride.

"My qualifying position was not fantastic and that spurred me on to get a good start, which is exactly what I did and that's great for me."

On his battle with Crutchlow, Smith said: "I had fun battling with Cal and I really gave it my all, plus the bike was strong today but there a few things we will need to address in the coming weeks."

Tech3 team manager Herve Poncharal added: "The team did a superb job today and our riders illustrated how strong as a team we are at the moment."

Smith's next race will take place at the Spanish circuit of Catalunya, near Barcelona, which is close to Smith's temporarily residence.

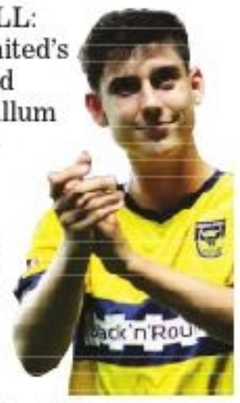
O'Dowda gets Irish run-out



FOOTBALL: Oxford United's 20-year-old winger Callum O'Dowda started for the Republic of Ireland U-21 side in a 2-1 defeat against England C in Galway on Monday afternoon.

The youngster played the first 21 minutes for his country, before Jack Connors replaced him in torrid conditions at Eamonn Deacy Park.

O'Dowda is also likely to be in the starting 11 for the game against England U-21's at St George Park on Friday at 3pm.

New Banbury United manager

FOOTBALL: Ex-Oxford United player Mike Ford has been confirmed as the new manager of Banbury United.

The former Oxford City coach, who led City to the Northern Premier title in 2012, has accepted the head United role following a year out of the game after he was dismissed by City at the end of the 2013/14 season.

Ford replaces Paul Davis, and his first game will be against Stratford Town on July 11.

Chapman hyped up for tough Cheshire test

OXFORD'S promising 15-year-old racing diver is set to make a splash at the Oulton Park Island Circuit in Cheshire this weekend as part of the Ginetta Junior Championship.

Matt Chapman is participating in his second season of the British Touring Car Championship (BTCC) support package and is highly regarded by his peers.

The young driver has had a series of incidents this season which has restricted him to 12th in the standings.

However he says his confidence could not be higher.

Chapman said: "It's been a bit of an unlucky year so far but the pace is there and there's no reason we shouldn't be in the fight for the podium this weekend."

There is expected to be big crowds at the parkland setting.

The track itself is a challenging circuit that always provides a stern test.

Chapman was a double top-10 finisher at the circuit last season, and is a big fan of the iconic track.

"Oulton is a great track, a real challenge for the drivers and the racing could be even closer this year on the Island Circuit.

"We know what we need to do this weekend. If we get qualifyfing right, it could kick-start my season."

Oxford City's 3G-pitch dream postponed to 2016

OXFORD City have had to put plans for a new 3G pitch at Marsh Lane on hold after several delays.

The club now hope that work on an artificial pitch could start immediately from the end of next season's fixtures.

The current pitch is being re-seeded and maintained, but the later start means that City will not be playing any pre-season home games this summer.

The club also announced that Solihull Moors midfielder Reece Fleet has returned to Marsh Lane after three years with the Moors in Conference North.

Midfielder Darren Pond has also penned a new deal with the club for the season and will wear the City captain's armband, whilst defender Lee Henderson has agreed a new two-year contract with Justin Merrit's men.

City start their pre-season away to Hungerford Town on July 11 - the first of six planned pre-season fixtures.

The club will head to Marlow on July 14 before encountering Didcot Town at the Loop Meadow Stadium on July 18, which is followed by Arlesey Town on July 25.

City then face off against Oxfordshire rivals Banbury United on July 28, before playing Solihull Moors on August 1.

Oxon book T-20 final place

OXFORDSHIRE secured their place in the final of the inaugural Unicorns Counties T20 cricket competition after defeating Shropshire by four wickets in a thrilling semi-final.

Luke Ryan's side then went on to completely dismantle hosts Herefordshire by eight wickets in the Group 2 final at Eastnor.

Oxon had to reach a target off 113 and Lloyd Sabin hit an unbeaten 59 off just 34 deliveries with nearly seven overs remaining.

They reduced Herefordshire to 3-3 off just seven deliveries, with star bowler Chad Keegan taking two early wickets.

Sabin hit two fours and four sixes for Oxon to help them reach the final with 116-2.

And in the earlier semi-final clash against Shropshire, Richard West and Chad Keegan stole the show.

The pair claimed 3-11 and 3-19 respectively as Oxon hit their rivals hard with Omar Ali and Ross Aucott hitting a 52-run partnership.

Keegan then went on to hit 31 unbeaten, with Oxon finishing the day with almost three overs remaining as they reached 133-6 with Shropshire on 129 all out.

Oxfordshire will now play in the Minor Counties T20 finals at Banbury CC on July 12.

Oxford slump at Slough

OXFORD Cricket Club were again beaten comprehensively as they fell to a 66-run defeat at Slough to remain bottom of the Division 1 table.

Oxford's Mark Beer got the away team off to a fantastic start after he dismissed Slough's Waqas Hussain with the very first ball of the match.

However, Slough's opener Nabil Shah went on to hoover up the runs for the home side as he went out for 104, hitting two sixes and 10 fours off 108 balls.

Shah formed valuable partnerships throughout his stay on the field with MCC Universities batsman Lloyd Paternott and Shaan Khan, who both kept the Oxford fielders busy.

Oxford's Harvey Eltham dismissed both Paternott, who is also an Oxford MCC Universities batsman, and Khan.

Slough eventually went out for 272-9 with Oxford relying on Will Rooney, who conceded only 32 runs from nine overs.

Brad Sutherland and Vishane Perera got Oxford started with Perera giving them a slim chance as he hit 43 off 97 balls.

Shami Mendis and Ian Crosby both gave the game some chance of a contest.

But Oxford's last five wickets fell for just 16 runs.

Naveed Akhtar was Slough's star bowler as he claimed 6-33 in 8.2 overs as Oxford were all out for 206.

ROMAIN Grosjean will be hoping to draw on experience from past performances in Montreal as Formula One heads across the Atlantic for the Canadian Grand Prix.

The Frenchman finished second at the track in 2012 for what remains his joint best result in the sport since making his debut in 2009.

He will be looking to recover from a disappointing Monaco Grand Prix last time out, which saw him punted out of a points-scoring position by the Toro Rosso of Max Verstappen.

"I have very good memories from 2012 when I went from seventh on the grid to my first second place in Formula One," said Grosjean.

"The last couple of years haven't been so good for me, as I had to retire from last year's race and in 2013 we struggled with the wet weather conditions.

"Hopefully it will be nice and sunny because it's a race I really like, and it's my favourite circuit to race on the Xbox.

"The last chicane is a notable feature and overall it's a good track."

Pastor Maldonado will also be hoping his luck changes soon after failing to finish five of the opening six races.

In Monaco the Venezuelan was well inside the points when technical troubles struck, and he was forced out in the opening laps.

As a result, Maldonado is yet to score a point this season.

He said: "Monaco was frustrating, but that's the way the racing goes sometimes.

"At most of the races this year we've looked strong all through the weekend and it's been the final piece of crossing the finish line in the points, which has been out of reach.

"Every race I want to finish in the points – the circuit has its own challenges but there's nothing to say we shouldn't be fast there."
